Prophecy

During my recent campaign tour for President of the United States, I boarded the "Bassett Campaign Special" to visit my home town of Dover. The first person to greet me was Mrs. Eitzen, directing the band which played to welcome me. That evening I ate dinner at her home, where we had a reunion with Mr. Enochs. He is now president of D. U. (Dover University). They had also invited the former Jo Ann Lane, who is coach of the D. U. Physical Education Department. We all decided to go on together to look up former classmates.

We were surprised to discover that our airline hostess was Miss Patricia Turner. Our take-off was slightly delayed because of engine trouble, but expert mechanic Richard Ribelin soon had us rolling. While waiting for repairs we drove out to see Larry Sage, who proudly showed us the irrigation system on his farm. At the next farm dairyman Alvin Moran was having trouble with a sick cow. He called veterinary Alan Schutter to the farm. We learned that Alan had been voted "Most Eligible Bachelor of 1976." On the way back to the airport we stopped to buy gasoline at "Chuck's Super-Service Station." This is one of a large chain of deluxe service stations owned and operated by Charles Musick.

At last we boarded the plane and continued on our way, heading for Chicago where I had an important conference. This was also to be the meeting place for several more classmates. We went directly to the pilot's lounge to wait for ace-pilot Ronald Hays, coming in from a cross-country flight. He brought along one of his passengers, former Carol Woofert, just returning for a furlough from the mission field.

We were feeling tired, so we went to a hotel to rest. Later that afternoon we attended the stock car races at Soldier's Field. Our special reason for going was to see Lynn Maus bring in his car for a "dare-devil" ride. As everyone had predicted, he won another brilliant race. On the way home, we saw a poster that attracted our attention. It announced a series of lectures on "The Eating Habits of the African Lion," to be given by the world famous hunter-explorer Robert Ribelin.

The next morning we went into an impressive building to the office of "Long Enterprises, Inc." One of the ten secretaries we passed was Sherrill Martin. She took us in to see Mr. Long--none other than Elwyn (Now a prosperous mechanical engineer.) That afternoon the ladies in the group attended a fashion show. There they saw one of the most glamorous models in the business--Patricia Eddy.

After the style show there was barely time to get changed into our most fashionable clothes. We had tickets to the premiere showing of Karen George's new movie. She has already won an Academy Award for her acting ability. Among the celebrities present was Zelda Ginter and her famous husband, a famous singer of popular songs. We had only one more person to visit, and we did this by stopping at City General Hospital. After a very short wait we saw Ramona Long coming off duty in her nurse's uniform. This was the end of a wonderful reunion with our former classmates, and we all agreed that we should do this again very soon!

Eighth Grade Class Will

We, the 1957 graduates of Dover Grade School, town of Dover, County of Shawnee, State of Kansas and United States of America, located in the Western Hemisphere of the universe, being of sound mind, make this our last will and testament.

We leave old Dover Grade School which has so faithfully served us for the past five years to the board. To the faculty, we leave many gray hairs which we have caused them. To Martin, we leave all the dirt, dust and mess.

We, the members of the 8th Grade Class, leave the following:

I, Sherill Martin, leave my ability to play basketball to Willard West and my shortness to Tommy Falley.

I, Charles Musick, leave my spelling to Mrs. Eitzen and my reading book to Mr. Enochs.

I, Karen George, leave my height to Jerry Patterson and my chickens to Billy Dagg.

I, Dick Bassett, leave my place of class president to anyone dumb enough to take it and my gift to gab to Gerald Martin.

I, Ramona Long, leave my pony tail to Jane Sender and my eagle eyes to Mr. Enochs.

I, Alvin Moran, leave my ability to drive Dad's pickup to my brother and my girl friends to Louis Atwood.

I, Zelda Ginter, leave my bangs to whoever will wear them and my catcher's mitt to Martha Sanner.

I, Lynn Maus, leave my bright shirts to Jerry Martin and my steps in basketball to Tony Viergever.

I, Patricia Eddy, leave my black hair to Jane Woofter and my basketball suit to Martha Sanner.

I, Ronald Hays, leave my tall slim figure to Delbert Kahler and my handsomeness to Melvin Herrick.

I, Carol Woofter, leave my wavy hair to Beverly Atwood and my smiling face to Eugene Corkill.

I, Elwyn Long, leave my red hair to Donald Bell and my big feet to Jerry Wright.

I, Patricia Turner, leave my giggles to Bobby Blair and my shy disposition to Vickie Cottrill.

I, Richard Ribelin, leave my nickname "Tub" to Gerald Martin and my pheasant hunting to James Simpson.

I, Jo Ann Lane, leave my muscles to Margaret Atwood and my ability to guard to Jane Woofter.

I, Robert Ribelin, leave my sore fingers to David Holmes and my singing in class to Jerry Martin.

I, Alan Schutter, leave my pockets full of junk to Gordon Eddy and my undone arithmetic to Jerry Wright.

I, Larry Sage, leave my ability to smile at all the girls to James Simpson, and my Arithmetic book to Mr. Enochs.
